The town of Saluda has a small public library which has been supported by clubs, but which had been closed for a number of years. The library was reopened. With the beginning of W.P.A. library service books were rebound and new books were donated.

The County Board of Education, the County Council of Farm Women, and individuals have given their active support to the project. The loan of several hundred W.P.A. owned books has added greatly to the service which is offered to county by a bookmobile bought through W.P.A. rental. The county service is still operated by W.P.A. personnel.
