Library service to Clarendon County was first given by small deposits of books carried by the supervisor in her car. Books were lent by the W.P.A. to aid this demonstration. In August 1938 a bookmobile was secured through W.P.A. rental and the service continued to grow until September 1939 when the bookmobile was badly damaged in an accident. It has not yet been put back into service.

In 1936 the Manning Library which had been closed for a number of years was opened with a W. P. A. aide in charge.
